Allowable Subject Matter

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The Raiser reference discloses a fuel cell system comprising: a fuel cell stack; a 12 V auxiliary blower; and a high voltage compressor (See paragraph [0009]). The Hamada reference discloses a method of starting up a fuel cell comprising: pre-generating electricity with the fuel cell "3" with the remaining air and hydrogen supplied from the hydrogen storage unit; driving the air supply fan "10" with the electricity produced by the fuel cell, thereby supplying additional oxygen to the cathode inlet of the fuel cell via the air supply fan; and increasing the voltage produced by the fuel cell as the fuel cell starts the generation of electricity (See column 3, lines 57-64).

Regarding independent claim 1, Raiser as modified by Hamada et al does not expressly teach a method of fuel cell start-up comprising: supplementing the quantity of oxygen supplied to the cathode inlet of the fuel cell stack when the voltage output is sufficient to begin driving the high voltage compressor by simultaneously operating the high voltage compressor with the voltage output of the fuel cell stack and the low voltage power source.

Regarding independent claim 13, Raiser as modified by Hamada et al does not expressly teach a method of fuel cell start-up comprising: decreasing the operation of the blower over time as the voltage output of the fuel cell stack increases.

Regarding independent claim 23, Raiser as modified by Hamada et al does not expressly teach a method of fuel cell start-up comprising: ceasing operation of the blower when the voltage output of the fuel cell stack has reached a predetermined value.

Regarding independent claim 24, Raiser as modified by Hamada et al does not expressly teach a method of fuel cell start-up comprising: ceasing operation of the blower when the voltage output of the fuel cell stack is sufficient to support operation of the compressor.

Regarding independent claim 25, Raiser as modified by Hamada et al does not expressly teach a method of operating a fuel cell system comprising: operating the low voltage blower in the stand-by mode and operating the high voltage compressor during normal mode.

Regarding independent claim 51, Raiser as modified by Hamada et al does not expressly teach a method of fuel cell start-up comprising: supplementing the quantity of oxygen supplied to the cathode inlet of the fuel cell stack when the voltage produced by the fuel cell stack is sufficient to begin driving the high voltage compressor by simultaneously operating the high voltage compressor and the low voltage blower with the voltage produced by the fuel cell stack.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
